

LISTOMAT®

LISTOMAT® was designed with the goal of reducing the maintenance required for wooden paving, while maintaining its most desirable qualities –sustainability, permeability and a warm feel– and ensuring durability. This natural, environmentally friendly product has become the best alternative to traditional wood.

The product requires no additional treatment, there are no extra difficulties in the drying and production process, and there is no need to depend on the availability of the right type of wood for a suitable, sustainably sourced product.

The latest generation of LISTOMAT® outdoor flooring is unique thanks to its stone conglomerate made from LITOFIBER® stone composite, with a high number of compatible fibres. This innovative composition means that the flooring is highly resistant to weather conditions and chemical agents, so it upholds its physical and mechanical properties over time, removing the need for maintenance.
